STUDENT EMPLOYEE HIGHLIGHT!

Vivan Chen

Vivan Chen, a molecular and cellular biology student, served as the Program Assistant in the Rising Scholars Program, an initiative by the Office of Undergraduate Education in the summer of 2023, having discovered the opportunity via her house mailing list. As a first-generation student from a low-income, minority background, she resonated with the Rising Scholar's Program's mission: to assist in the transition and success of similar students at Harvard.

Vivan balanced all her responsibilities impeccably, (conducting vital summer research for her senior thesis, and preparing for the MCAT) Her secret? Careful planning and weekly reflections!

One of the highlights of Vivan's summer was the PA-led activities on Sundays. These events ranged from trips around Harvard Square to introducing students to the classic spots in Boston.

Beyond her academic and work commitments, Vivan is an avid biker, likes to play badminton, and is learning various arts and crafts. Her favorite spots on campus include the serene second floor of the Ticknor Lounge and a hidden corner by Vanserg!

Please join the SEO in congratulating Vivan for her contribution to the Harvard Community!
