STUDENT EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

What made you apply for this position?

Prior to enrolling at Harvard Chan, I worked as a research assistant for two years and had greatly enjoyed partaking in the data collection process of various research projects.

How do you balance school and work?

I utilize calendars, both online and written. I try to prioritize my work and school depending on timelines and goals. I also spend time with my friends and going to school events to stay engaged, but also have fun!

How does it relate to what you learned at Harvard?

This research position at Brigham and Women's Hospital provided me with a similar opportunity in which I can collect and analyze data (both qualitative and quantitative).

What are your personal keys to success?

Find opportunities that you are genuinely interested in. It will help you both academically and personally. I wanted to be engaged in a research project within a clinical setting. Thus, expanding my experience that has predominantly been community-based.
